The foundation of UND athletics is the unwavering passion of Fighting Sioux fans, the nation's best.

"I've never been to a place that's more proud of its athletes and its athletics than UND." — Former UND All-American, 2010 United States Olympian and current New Jersey Devils star Zach Parise

Nate Baukol Director of Strength and Conditioning

MISSION

It is our mission to physically and mentally prepare the student-athlete for the rigors of collegiate athletics, by implementing professionally designed, scientifically sound training programs, designed specifically to reduce the incidence of injury and help each team and studentathlete reach their full athletic potential.

PHILOSOPHY

We believe that strength and conditioning is crucial to the complete development of the student-athlete. The philosophy of our strength and conditioning program is based on the belief that what occurs in the weight room and field transfers to the playing surface. We train sport specifically with the goal of enhancing athleticism. We also believe in the importance of work ethic, attitude, accountability and mental toughness and that these qualities can be developed and enhanced through our strength and conditioning program.

At the University of North Dakota, one program, functioning behind the scenes, but which should not be taken lightly, is the strength and conditioning program. The strength and conditioning program at UND is among the finest in Division I and vital to the success of all UND athletic teams. The strength and conditioning staff commits themselves to the development of size, strength, power, speed, agility, conditioning, and body composition of each student-athlete. The goal of the strength staff is to develop the athlete and team to reach their maximum potential throughout their career while staying injury free.

Nate Baukol, director of strength and conditioning, oversees the program and facilities. Baukol has three full-time assistant coaches and one graduate assistant coach to assist him.

Together they direct and monitor the training of over 500 studentathletes in 20 sports at UND. UND also boasts some of the finest strength training facilities around. The facilities include the Ralph Engelstad Arena weight room, the Memorial Stadium weight room, and the Hyslop Sports Center weight room.

Training has become a year-round activity, with a student athlete spending as much time on physical development as any other part of their sport throughout the year. Student-athletes follow either offseason or in-season programs, which are individualized specific to the athlete and sport. Off-season programs are five days a week, summer months included.

Each athlete receives a comprehensive summer training manual to follow, given that a member of the strength staff won't be supervising them. In-season programs are typically 45-minute sessions, two to three days per week, supervised by the strength and conditioning staff.

Steve Westereng Director of Sports Medicine

One of the unfortunate aspects of athletics is that injuries do occur. However, every student-athlete from UND athletic teams are under excellent care thanks to the UND Divison of Sports Medicine and its umbrella of staff, facilities and training.

With a staff of nine faculty athletic trainers, two graduate assistant athletic trainers and 30 athletic training students headed by director of sports medicine Steve Westereng, UND student-athletes are in good hands, returning them quickly and safely to participation.

The UND Division of Sports Medicine was formed in 1990. Additionally, the bachelor of science in athletic training degree and the UND Center for Sports Medicine was founded. The athletic training education program was the first program in the nation to be placed directly in a school of medicine and is housed within the Department of Family Medicine, combining the efforts of the UND Athletic Training program and the UND School of Medicine and Health Sciences.

UND's progressive thinking makes the institution a leader in the field of athletic training. Moreover, the program's affiliation with the School of Medicine helps both the athletic training student and the studentathlete. Completion of the bachelor of science in athletic training allows the student to sit for the board of certification exam to become a certified athletic trainer (ATC).

The student-athletes also benefit from having a wealth of competent individuals getting them back into action.

In order to be accepted into the athletic training program, which received a seven-year accreditation in 2001 (note: UND will receive word in August 2008 of re-accreditation) from CAAHEP, a student must complete 100 hours of observation, fill out a formal application, and have a minimum GPA of 2.75.

The Division of Sports Medicine also has an outpatient facility, the UND Center for Sports Medicine, which specializes in rehabilitation of orthopedic injuries. UND student-athletes, as well as the general public, utilize this facility to decrease pain, increase strength, and improve range of motion of injuries. Many of the injuries seen in the Center for Sports Medicine are significant, such as pre- and post-surgical issues. The center is staffed by Cathy Ziegler, PT/ATC, and Robin Tracy, PT/ATC, who have experience with high school, college, and professional athletes.

Whether it is reading to area school children or lending their time to countless charitable organizations or providing disaster relief, UND's student-athletes pride themselves on their community involvement and have long been looked upon as pillars within the UND and Grand Forks communities. In 2009-10 alone, UND student-athletes logged nearly 7,000 hours of community service.

ATHIFTICS DIRECTOR Brian Faison

Brian Faison is his third year as athletics director at the University of North Dakota. Faison assumed his duties at UND in May of 2008.

Faison's first year was a busy one, leading Fighting Sioux athletics through its first year of transition to NCAA Division I status for all of its sports programs. He secured conference membership for 16 of UND's 20 sports in the Great West Conference, restructured the athletics department and enhanced UND's statewide profile through community outreach initiatives and an expanded Fighting Sioux Sports Network.

In Faison's second year, student-athletes continued their tradition of academic excellence: four student-athletes were named academic All-Americans by ESPN the Magazine; two student-athletes received NCAA postgraduate scholarships; and a school-record 111 student-athletes received academic all-conference honors.

Alumni and fan support continued to grow: annual giving to the Fighting Sioux Club set another record; volleyball set a single-season attendance record; women's hockey finished seventh in the nation in average attendance; and men's hockey finished second in the nation in average and total attendance.

Competitively, UND teams again enjoyed outstanding seasons: volleyball, women's basketball and softball all won Great West Conference championships; men's hockey won the Broadmoor Trophy, the WCHA Final Five championship, and qualified for its eighth straight NCAA tournament appearance; and football enjoyed its seventh straight winning season.

Prior to joining UND, Faison served as special assistant to the president for athletics development (2004-07) and director of athletics (1999-04) at New Mexico State University. Before that, he served as the director of development for the National Children's Cancer Society (1995-1999). Faison gained experience in Division I administration as the director of athletics at Indiana State University (1988-1995), assistant athletics director for development at the University of Louisville (1984-1988) and assistant athletics director for promotions and fund raising at Illinois State University (1979-1984). He also had stints as the assistant manager for athletic public relations at the University of Missouri (1978-1979) and assistant director for alumni activities at the University of Missouri (1974-1978).

Faison received his bachelor's degree in 1972 from the University of Missouri and is also a 1997 graduate of the National Planned Giving Institute.

Faison and his wife, Donna, have three sons: Jonathan, Matthew and Bradley.

BRIAN JONES

Brian Jones is entering his fifth season as the head coach of the Fighting Sioux men's basketball program. Jones and the Sioux will embark on their third season at the Division I level in 2010-11 and second in the Great West Conference.

Year one in the Great West saw the Fighting Sioux finish in a tie for third in the inaugural league standings with a 5-7 record. Senior Travis Bledsoe ranked second in the Great West in scoring with a 15.5 ppg average and also ranked second in league games with a 21.1 ppg clip en route to earning first team All-Great West honors. Junior Derek Benter was named to the GWC All-Academic team for the second straight season as well.

Facing a full DI schedule for the first time, the Sioux managed to post six wins against schools from that level, a two-game improvement from the previous season.

Despite playing as an independent in 2008-09, which was the team's first at the DI level, the Great West still delegated weekly and yearly awards for the seven teams that made up the inaugural men's basketball league. Senior Daniel Harkins, junior Dustin Monsebroten and sophomore Derek Benter earned all-academic honors, while senior forward O.J. Harrison was named Great West Player of the Week on two occasions.

With six freshmen waiting in the wings taking a redshirt season, a veteran squad closed out the campaign by winning five of its last six contests to improve the team's win total for the third straight year. Four of those victories came over DI teams, proving the Sioux could compete with teams at that level across the country.

In 2007-08, Jones guided the Sioux on a memorable playoff run, leading the team to the North Central Conference championship game for the first time since 2002. UND finished the season with a 15-15 record, a four-win improvement from the previous season and the program's most wins in three years.

Under the tutelage of Jones, senior forward Emmanuel Little earned All-NCC honors for the second straight season.

UND also enjoyed a highly successful year in the classroom, with a school-record and league-high four players earning Academic All-NCC accolades: seniors Josh Doyle, Jimmy Hoy and Tyler Koenig and freshman Derek Benter. Those same four were also named to the NCC Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll, also the most in the conference.

In 2006-07, Jones' first as a collegiate head coach, the Fighting Sioux went 11-17 overall and showed marked improvement throughout the entire year. That continued growth and renewed optimism was reflected in the stands of the Betty Engelstad Sioux Center, where the Fighting Sioux averaged more than 2,000 fans per game to rank 14th in NCAA Division II men's basketball.

Jones, who prior to UND most recently served as an assistant coach at the University of Iowa, is the 18th head coach in the history of the program and just the third in the last 36 years.

Jones, a Rock Island, Ill., native, came to UND after spending the previous seven seasons as an assistant on Steve Alford's staff at lowa. He spent the last five seasons of his tenure as an assistant coach after serving as administrative assistant coach in his first two years with the Hawkeyes.

During Jones' five years as assistant coach, the Hawkeyes went 98-64 (.605), received three NCAA Tournament invitations and won a pair of Big Ten tournament titles. In 2005-06, Jones helped lead lowa to a 25-9 record, the second-most wins in school history, and the first undefeated (17-0) home record in the history of the program.

While at Iowa, Jones guided seven All-Big Ten selections, 17 Academic All-Big Ten selections and four Academic All-Americans. Jones also helped tutor four of the last five Big Ten rebounding champions, three straight conference leaders in blocked shots and the league's 2005-06 defensive player of the year. Three of his student-athletes reached the National Basketball Association (NBA) and two from the 2005-06 Hawkeye team have been invited to NBA camps.

Prior to arriving at Iowa, Jones spent the 1998-99 season under Alford as administrative assistant coach at Southwest Missouri State University (now Missouri State), where he helped lead the Bears to an NCAA Sweet 16 appearance and a top-20 national ranking.

No stranger to the North Central Conference, Jones was an assistant coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha from 1996 to 1998 and recruited many of the players who would go on to lead the Mavericks to back-to-back conference titles. Jones' first coaching stint came at Alleman High School in Rock Island, III., where he was an assistant for two seasons.

Jones was a four-year letterman as a guard/forward at Northern lowa and went on to play professional basketball in Australia and Portugal. He was a two-time, all-state selection as a prep at Rock Island High School.

Jones earned his bachelor's degree in communications and broadcasting from Northern Iowa in 1994 and his master's degree in athletic administration from Nebraska-Omaha in 2003.

Jones and his wife, Danna, have three children: sons Jaxson (7) and Jonah (3) and daughter Jersey (5).

"We're going to outwork you, we're going to outthink you, we're going to do it together and we're going to have a lot of fun doing it. I think if you can outwork opponents, outthink them and do it as a team, the winning will take care of itself. That's the fun part."

- Coach Jones at a May 25, 2006 press conference introducing him as UND head men's basketball coach.

HEAD COACH BRIAN JONES ON...

His coaching style: "We want to build our foundation on four pillars: OutWork, OutThink, Do It Together and Have Fun. We want to outwork you on the floor, outthink you, play unselfishly and have a lot of fun playing the game of basketball."

The importance of family: "We really put a big emphasis on family. I don't want our relationship with the players just to be primarily on basketball. I want our relationship to extend 30-plus years to where they can come back to campus and feel like they never left. I have three small children. I want our players to have an ongoing relationship with my wife and kids. The bond we have will be critical to our success on the floor. We will play in many hostile environments and that bond will be what gets us over the top."

The importance of respect: "I truly feel you have to respect all those around you. There are so many people on campus and in the community that are trying to help. I feel the moment you stop listening to your elders or start playing against the name on the front of the jersey, you are setting yourself up to fail or get beat."

The importance of tradition: "Tradition never graduates. Tradition is what is allowing us to make this transition to Division I, so it is very important. I feel it is our duty to carry that torch and continue to represent the university, community and the state at the highest level."

What it means for him to be at UND: "It has been a dream come true for me personally to be a part of a university that is one of the best in the country from an academic and athletic standpoint. With this being my first head coaching job, I've been blessed to be given this opportunity. We look forward to establishing ourselves in the community and making Grand Forks our home."

What makes UND and the program special: "The passion for this university is what makes it special. People are passionate about UND and Sioux athletics. They have an ownership in the university and athletic teams. This is what sets us apart from many other universities. UND basketball has had a long line of great coaches and players who have gone on to do many great things after their time here. That to me shows the life skills they've learned while at UND."

The importance of community and fan support: "We need involvement from the community and student body. We want the "Betty" to be known for being a difficult place to play in. Visiting teams should know when they step off the bus they are walking into an environment that will challenge them mentally and physically."

His recruiting philosophy: We feel it is important that we take care of home first—this being the state of North Dakota—and then branch out to bordering states or areas where we have relationships built. I truly believe it is our job to find talent but our players are the ones in charge of recruiting. They are around each other more often than the coaches are around them. If they feel the student-athlete would be a good fit into the university, community and program then it is a no-brainer that we want him to be the next member of the UND family."

The importance of building character: "It is our job as coaches to develop life skills. We must prepare our young men for life after basketball. They will be thrown in a lot of different scenarios that will challenge them during their tenure and we have to teach them how to make the most of it. We are all about doing the right job right all the time."

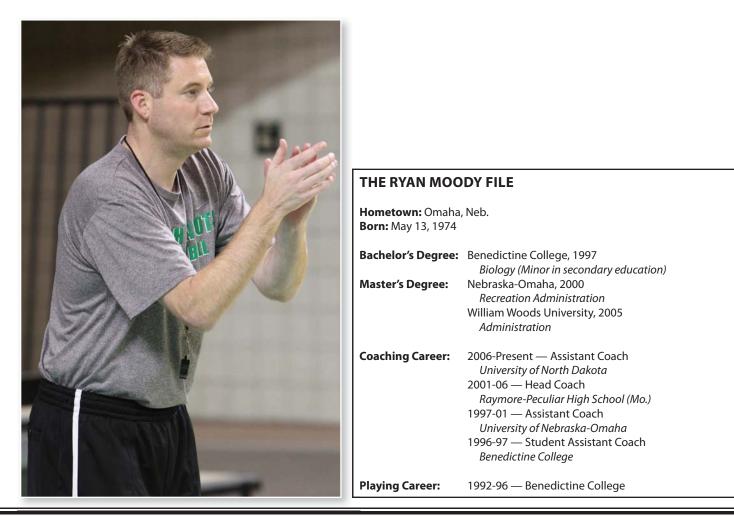

The 2010-11 season will be Ryan Moody's fifth with the Fighting Sioux men's basketball team. After spending his first four seasons as an assistant coach, Moody was elevated to the role of associate head coach in October.

Moody arrived at UND after having served as head coach at Raymore-Peculiar High School in Peculiar, Missouri since 2001. Moody inherited a program that had gone 44-81 the previous five seasons, and led Peculiar to a 72-55 record over the next five years, including a 53-24 mark over the last three years and the first Suburban Conference title in school history.

Prior to that, Moody spent four seasons (1997 to 2001) as an assistant coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, where Jones was also on the staff for two of those seasons. While at UNO, Moody recruited three recruiting classes that led the Mavericks to back-to-back NCC champion-ships.

Moody received his bachelor's degree in biology with a minor in secondary education from Benedictine (Kan.) College in 1997 and graduated as the eighth-leading scorer in school history. He also graduated second on the school's all-time three-pointers made list and was a three-time all-conference selection, including a pair of first team honors. Moody went on to serve one year as a student assistant coach at Benedictine.

Moody earned a master's degree in recreation administration from UNO in 2000 and a master's degree in administration from William Woods (Mo.) University in 2005.

BRYAN MARTIN

Bryan Martin enters his third season as an assistant coach with the Fighting Sioux. Martin works primarily with the team's perimeter players and also serves as the program's recruiting coordinator.

Last season, Martin helped senior guard Travis Bledsoe earn first team All-Great West honors after averaging 15.5 ppg overall and ranking second in league games with a 21.1 ppg average.

Martin came to UND after spending three seasons as head coach at North Iowa Area Community College in Mason City, Iowa. Martin guided NIACC to a 50-45 overall record in three seasons, including a school-record 22 regular season victories in 2006-07. That same season, Martin's team was ranked as high as 15th nationally in NJCAA Division II and finished third in its conference, the school's best conference finish since 1995. Martin also led NIACC to Region XI Tournament semifinal berths in 2006 and 2007.

Prior to taking over at NIACC, Martin served as an assistant coach at Indian Hills Community College (2002-05), Simpson College (2001-02) and South Dakota (1999-01).

Martin received a bachelor's degree in history and secondary education from Simpson College in 1999. He led Simpson to a 60-19 record in his three seasons, including an Iowa Conference championship as a junior. He served as a team captain during his senior year. Martin spent his freshman season at Morningside college.

He received a master's degree in athletic administration from USD in 2001.

Martin and his wife, Angie, have three sons (Evan and Pearson, 7; and Kellen, 2).

🚺 2010 NORTH DAKOTA MEN'S BASKETBALL

All incoming players are evaluated when they arrive on campus. A detailed and individualized program for each player is developed that builds on strengths while eliminating weaknesses. By the time the player leaves the program, there will be no limitations in his game and he will be prepared for the next level.

Head coach Brian Jones and his staff have broken down player development into six fundamental areas: 1) footwork 2) ball handling & passing 3) shots off the catch/dribble 4) 1-on-1 moves 5) team defense 6) strength & conditioning.

In his first four years at UND, Jones has tutored first team All-Great West performer Travis Bledsoe, two-time All-NCC selection Emmanuel Little – the seventh overall pick in the 2008 CBA draft - and 2007 NCC Defensive Player of the Year Harry Boyce.

During Brian Jones' tenure at the University of Iowa, he had a hand in developing eight All-Big Ten players at the guard and post positions. Additionally, a front-line player led the Big Ten conference in rebounding in six of the past seven years and led the conference in blocked shots for three straight years.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

"We have a group of guys here at UND that have bought into what the coaches are teaching us and we see the results both on and off the court. This is the hardest working team I have ever played for and we push each other to achieve new heights every day." Senior forward Chris Clausen

2010 NORTH DAKOTA MEN'S BASKETBALL

The University of North Dakota boasts some of the finest strength training facilities in the country, providing a healthy and safe environment for Fighting Sioux student-athletes to become bigger, stronger and more agile than their opponents.

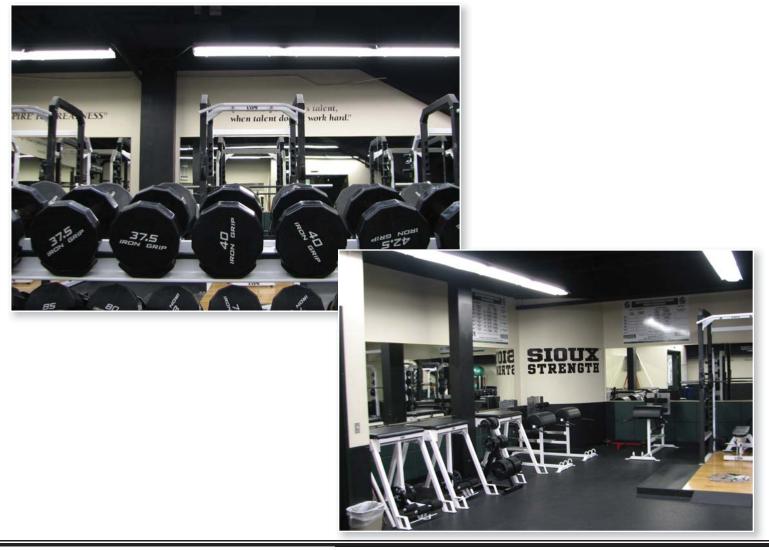

Director of strength and conditioning Nate Baukol, basketball strength and conditioning coach Quinn Peterson and the rest of the strength staff direct and monitor the training of over 400 student-athletes in 20 sports at UND.

The Fighting Sioux men's basketball team trains at the Betty Engelstad Sioux Center's Brown and Bender Performance Center, which was graciously donated by Mark Brown and David Bender during the 2005-06 season.

"The facilities we have here at UND are outstanding. We have everything we need right here at the Sioux Center to make ourselves better everyday."

Affectionately dubbed "The Betty," the Betty Engelstad Sioux Center opened its doors prior to the 2004-05 season, replacing the historic Hyslop Sports Center. The multi-million dollar facility is adjacent to the renowned Ralph Engelstad Arena and also serves as the home of Fighting Sioux volleyball.

Named in honor of longtime UND benefactor Betty Engelstad, the widow of Ralph Engelstad, the arena seats approximately 3,000 fans and provides the Fighting Sioux basketball teams with a home-court advantage that is second to none.

The building (top) was officially dedicated with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on August 24, 2004, attended by the Engelstad family and distinguished guests. A new floor was unveiled prior to the 2008-09 season (bottom).

HOME COURT HISTORY

HOME COURT HISTORY

The Fighting Sioux played their final games in the Hyslop Sports Center in 2003-04. The building, home to the Sioux since the 1951-52 season, was host to 538 UND victories with just 149 defeats.

The Sioux opened their brand new facility – the Betty Engelstad Sioux Center – in November 2004 to serve as the primary home to the Fighting Sioux.

The Ralph Engelstad Arena (pictured to the right) – home to the Fighting Sioux men's and women's hockey teams – has also been an additional home venue for UND basketball games since its opening.

On Dec. 22, 2001 it was the site of the largest crowd to ever watch a basketball game in the state of North Dakota, when 13,280 attended a UND-University of Kansas game (right).

🚺 2010-11 NORTH DAKOTA MEN'S BASKETBALL

As the Fighting Sioux enter their third year of Division I basketball, head coach Brian Jones has added some key components to his program's foundation. That foundation has been made sturdy by the likes of senior captains Derek Benter (Crosby, N.D.) and Chris Clausen (Adelaide, Australia) and fellow upperclassmen Patrick Mitchell (Des Moines, Iowa) and Mike Mathison (Walhalla, N.D.).

"We are going to rely on our four upperclassmen this season to really lead our club," Jones said. "And, the great thing about that bunch is no one had to tell them this is their team. From the offseason workouts, to summer conditioning, they took over this club and that has been a great example for our young guys."

Steadily adding to the existing foundation has been a six-member sophomore class that received a good taste of Division I basketball during its rookie season in 2009-10. All six players saw action for Jones a season ago, while the 2008-09 recruiting class of Brandon Brekke (East Grand Forks, N.D.) and Josh Schuler (Urbana, Ohio) watched from the sidelines.

Brekke and Schuler are ready for action this season and unlike the previous two seasons when members of Jones' recruiting classes took redshirts, those two will be added to the framework of the team along with the trio of true freshmen from the 2009-10 recruiting class.

"It's a combination of them being ready, but also that all three can play the point, and two are natural point guards," Jones said. "That is a big piece to the puzzle and that will allow our other guys to move back to their natural positions. As a whole, these three guys, along with Josh and Brandon, really stabilize our team and will allow us to do some different things on both sides of the court. They fit nicely into the blueprint we have in place."

The two natural point guards are Aaron Anderson (Brooklyn Park, Minn.) and Jamal Webb (Buffalo, N.Y.), while Troy Huff (Milwaukee, Wis.) brings versatility and can play all of the perimeter positions. Schuler (Urbana, Ohio) can also play both guard spots and Brekke (East Grand Forks, Minn.) will bolster the inside play for the Sioux.

This quintet of newcomers will have those 10 veterans to lean on as the group adjusts to the rigors of DI basketball. The leadership provided by those vets will also be a key factor into the success of the 2010-11 edition of the UND men's basketball team.

"I think the most valuable thing our team learned last year was how hard it is to perform on a consistent basis," Jones said. "Our journey is different from most teams. There are no days off, whether it is practice, preparing for a game or playing a game.

"We all had to learn how to handle the travel and how to handle a long season. For a lot of our guys, it was their first year playing, so it was an extremely long year for them. I think just learning how to take care of their bodies was crucial and now they can pass what they learned onto this new group."

With all the pieces in place on the 15-man roster, Jones and his coaching staff continued to work hard during the offseason to incorporate the best way for this club to make the transition to the highest level of collegiate basketball a smoother one.

"We have tweaked some things offensively and defensively," Jones said. "We want to play a lot more up-tempo and this year we feel that we have the depth that allows us to do that.

"We have more team speed as well and our depth allows us, again, to play guys where they are most comfortable. That is what has our staff the most excited."

Here is a closer look at each of those 15 players in a position-byposition breakdown, detailing the strengths they bring to the Fighting Sioux, along with a snapshot of the 2010-11 schedule.

GUARDS

As much excitement as there is surrounding his new perimeter players, Jones does have to face the reality of replacing UND's top scorer from a season ago. Travis Bledsoe was a first team All-Great West performer after averaging 15.5 ppg overall and 21.8 in league games.

However, one luxury that Jones has in this endeavor is that responsibility will not fall on one player's shoulders.

"Obviously, having to replace an all-league performer like Travis and the scoring he brought to the team will not be easy, but I feel that through the maturation of our younger players, we will be able to adequately fill that gap," Jones said. "What I see from this team, we are probably not going to have an 18-19 point scorer, but we will have a lot of 10-11 point scorers. I see a team with a lot of balance. We have guys that are capable of big nights, but the mentality of this team is spreading the wealth and spreading the ball around."

The most experienced perimeter player back from last year is sophomore Nick Haugen (Rockford, Minn.), who was one of three Sioux players to appear in all 31 games. He is one of those players that will benefit immediately from the addition of the true point guards. Haugen (pictured to the right) made 12 starts and averaged 5.8 ppg, playing mostly at the point, but his role will change in 2010-11.

"Nick is going to slide back to the shooting guard spot," Jones said. "That is going to give him more confidence and give him more freedom to do what he does best and that is shoot the basketball." 2010–11 NORTH DAKOTA MEN'S BASKETBALL

Spencer Goodman (Jackson, Mo.) will be another benefactor of the added pieces. One of three returning starters for the Sioux, Goodman averaged 5.1 ppg and 3.0 rpg in his rookie campaign.

"Spencer, along with Nick, had a very solid freshman season. Now, he will go back to the small forward spot where, again, he can be more confident with his abilities," Jones added. "His strengths are his ability to run in the open floor and slash to the rim and he will be able to do that more from the three spot."

Joining Haugen and Goodman on the perimeter will be Anderson, Huff, Schuler and Webb. With six underclassmen roaming the outside for the Sioux, each member of the group will have an opportunity to make an impact from the opening game against Waldorf College on Nov. 12.

Schuler watched last season from the sidelines while taking a redshirt season, but that has him poised to contribute right away in 2010-11. "Josh has an unbelievable basketball IQ and feel for the game," Jones said. "He is another guy that can play multiple positions. His primary role will be as a shooting guard, but with rotations and different line-ups, he can play all three perimeter spots as well.

"I'm excited to see what both Josh and Nick can do for us at the two-guard spot because they both can really shoot the basketball."

As mentioned, the foundation of the team was shored up with the addition of the two natural point guards and that will make a big difference.

"Last year, we never really had a true point guard. Travis, Dustin (Monsebroten) and Nick were more twoguard types," Jones reiterated. "So, with Aaron and Jamal, those two young freshmen are really going to make us better because that is their natural position. They think like point guards and that will allow the other guys to do what they do best."

Anderson is a 5-foot-10 floor leader out of Brooklyn Park, Minn., where he is coming off a standout prep career at Osseo High School. "Aaron is a true, true point guard. He is going to run the team and get guys to where they need to be on the floor," Jones said. "He has a great pace and feel for the game. He is a pass-first point guard, but he can knock down open shots too."

Webb adds a dual-threat ability to the point guard spot. He is also a little more seasoned than his fellow classmates having spent two seasons at a prep school in North Carolina.

"Jamal can score at a high level. We saw that in high school," Jones said. "He will give us a different look because he has more of a score-first mentality, so the two of them make for a nice mix. Plus, he is a guy that can slide to the off-guard spot if we needed him to as well.

"Jamal is really good off the dribble and has great vision. Both of these guys are going to help us play a more up-tempo style of basketball and that is going to force the other guys to play at that same level."

Perhaps the most athletic of the perimeter players is Huff. At 6-foot-3, he is also the tallest of the Sioux guards and his length should help out on both ends of the floor. "Troy is a young freshman that can play all three perimeter positions," Jones said. "He has really opened some eyes in practice so far with his athleticism. He can handle the basketball and he has great vision as well.

"Troy can also slash and get to the rim too, which will help free up some of our shooters."

Youth will definitely be served on the perimeter for UND this season, but the group's overall skill set and ability bodes well for the future. "The versatility and depth is what I am excited about the most with the guard play," Jones added. "We can give a lot of different looks with that unit on the offensive end."

FORWARDS

Jones will have a full complement of veterans to work with at the forward positions, including the team's leading returning scorer in Patrick Mitchell (Des Moines, Iowa) and one of his two senior captains - Chris Clausen (Adelaide, Australia). Goodman and his classmate Jordan Allard (Fargo, N.D.) will also make their presence felt at forward.

"We bring back a lot of depth at the forward position with guys that logged a lot of minutes last year," Jones said. "We are looking for their maturity to take over and see what elements they added to their games from the summer workouts. Much like our guard scenario, we can now put guys at their natural positions."

Clausen came in last year and did a nice job off the Sioux bench after transferring from North Iowa Area Community College. He was the top scorer among the team's reserves after averaging 6.1 ppg.

"Chris brings toughness to the team along with the ability to knock down an open jumper," Jones said. "He is one of our top shooters and the tweaks we have made on offense are going to free him and our other shooters up for more opportunities. Plus, because of his physicality, he can also play inside for us."

Mitchell moved into the starting lineup a season ago and did a nice job adjusting to his new role. He averaged 9.2 ppg and upped that to 11.8 ppg in Great West contests. He had the highest scoring game of the season for the Sioux as well, when he netted a career-high 33 points against NJIT.

"Patrick is probably our best shooter on the team and we saw glimpses of his potential last season," Jones said. "He had some big nights for us and we expect him to continue to make strides for us."

At six-foot-eight, Mitchell can also play inside and give the coaching staff more versatility. He had the first two double-doubles of his career a season ago. Allard adds even more versatility to the forward position because of his passing and ball-handling ability. "Jordan is kind of like a point-forward for us," Jones said. "He can really handle the basketball. His biggest strength is just his overall skill level. He has a great knack for finding the open man and his passing skills are going to help us out with some of our new offensive schemes." Dan Stockdale (Sheboygan, Wis.) is a walk-on that brings the same attitude to the gym every day. "Dan is always working hard and his presence is invaluable to our team because he is passionate about this program and he pushes our guys to get better," Jones said. "This is his third year in our program and he has gotten better each year. His biggest role will be to continue to push our guys every day in practice to get better."

CENTERS

Jones has five players that he plans to utilize as an inside presence in the post and each member of the quintet can also play the power forward spot as well. One of those players is the other senior captain on the squad – Derek Benter (Crosby, N.D.).

Benter (pictured to the left) has been a starter off-and-on his entire career. He is the one true veteran on the roster. "Derek is a fifth-year senior that battled through some injuries a year ago, but when he was healthy, I thought he had a nice season," Jones said. "He was really, really solid for us defensively and offensively. We are going to count on Derek to score for us more this season down in the post.

"Plus, with his skill level, he is a guy that can pick-and-pop and knock down an open jumper too. His leadership, toughness and just having been through the ringer of college basketball will allow him to mentor our younger guys and really help them out as well."

Mike Mathison (Walhalla, N.D.) came on strong at the end of last year and worked his way into the playing rotation in conference play. "Mike really played well down the stretch and at the Great West Tournament," Jones said. "He is a big body, who is really physical on the defensive end and will rebound the basketball. Mike can also face up and make some plays offensively for us."

Perhaps the most versatile player on the team is sophomore Doug Archer (Conception Junction, Mo.). Unfortunately, Archer was just coming into his own last season when he went down with a season-ending knee injury. "Like any freshman, Doug had an up-and-down season, but he was playing his best in conference play right before he got hurt," Jones said. " He is kind of our utility guy because of his ability to guard any player on the court and also play multiple positions on the offensive end.

"His energy level and toughness are probably his biggest strengths. He is the type of player that can provide a spark for us because his motor is always going."

Archer is one of the younger players that provide a leadership quality along with Mitch Wilmer (Warroad, Minn.) that will be big for the future. Wilmer also had an up and down season with his health, but continued to work hard and improve his skill set.

"When he was healthy, we all saw signs of the type of player he can be," Jones said. "He had a great offseason and really added some confidence to his game.

"For being 7-foot, he is probably the best athlete on the team. He can really run and jump and I think he is going to make his presence felt on the defensive end. But, he also has the ability to get by guys with his quickness on the offensive end will be a key for us."

Rounding out the quintet is the only newcomer among the post players – Brandon Brekke. "Brandon is a throwback player and we are really excited about his future," Jones said. "He has great post moves down low.

"He has great length and plays bigger than his six-foot-eight frame. He has a natural ability to alter shots and is probably our best back-to-the-basket scorer we have on the team even though he is a redshirt freshman."

The one overriding theme from the outlook is Jones has a complete 15-man roster in place to be able to send out multiple lineups that will have players in their natural spots. That is something he has not had in the past, but will undoubtedly help the Sioux in their pursuit of a Great West title in 2010-11.

"I think we are heading in the right direction. I think we see it on the inside and the commitment these players have to this program," Jones said. "We knew these first few years would be extremely tough. I could not be more proud of the effort this team brings every day to the gym and the sacrifices they have made.

"They continue to improve every day and, as a staff, we are excited about where we are going. We have a good product. It may not equate into more wins right away, but I know when we are ready to play for postseason play and the NCAA Tournament, we are going to have a great shot at being able to do that."

SCHEDULE

The Fighting Sioux will make six television appearances this season, host 10 Division I home games and renew their rivalry with in-state foe North Dakota State in what Jones calls his most competitive schedule of his tenure at UND. Fans can also catch all the action of every UND game on the radio dial at 100.3 FM Cat Country.

Following a tie for third in their inaugural season in Great West play, the Sioux will once again feature a 12-game conference slate with a home-and-home series against the other six members. The Sioux and Bison will resume their rivalry at the FargoDome on Dec. 11.

UND will also play in a preseason tournament again. This season the club will travel to Idaho for the Basketball Travelers Classic, Dec. 3-5, in Moscow, Idaho. The Sioux will face the host Vandals, Eastern Michigan and Monmouth in the three-game, three-day tournament (continued on next page).

Green Bay (College Basketball Invitational), Northern Colorado (CollegeInsider.com), South Dakota (CollegeInsider.com) and Wisconsin (NCAA Tournament) also reached the postseason. UND's game at Wisconsin will be part of ESPN's season opening 24hour Hoops Marathon. Coverage will be streamed live on ESPN3.com starting at 7 p.m.

"The biggest thing we want to do is continue progressing as a program and this schedule was built to allow us to take those steps," Jones said. "From a competition standpoint, it is a great schedule with the renewal of the North Dakota State rivalry, having 14 home games, competing against five teams who reached postseason play last season and going on the road against the likes of Wisconsin and Nebraska.

"Also, academically our guys will only miss three days of class during the fall term, which is not always possible for teams in transition."

Ed Grom Great West Commissioner

The Great West Conference is made up of 10 intercollegiate institutions that range geographically from New Jersey to Texas to California. The 10 member schools are spread out over seven states and four time zones, giving each school added exposure - both in terms of media and recruiting - in new destinations. The conference affiliation also generates much interest within the 10 institutions' substantial alumni base.

The conference, which began as a football-only league, took a giant leap in the collegiate athletic world when the conference expanded to include several additional sports and several new members.

Joining the league on July 10, 2008 were Houston Baptist, New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT), North Dakota, South Dakota, Texas-Pan American (UTPA) and Utah Valley. Chicago State accepted the league's invitation to join in October 2008. These seven schools, along with

In addition to football, championships conducted during the 2008-09 academic year were men's and women's cross country, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field, and men's and women's golf. Team sports in baseball, basketball, soccer, softball, tennis and volleyball began league play in 2009-10.

The Great West continues its proud tradition in football and has been rated as one of the best in Football Championship Subdivision and ahead of Football Bowl Subdivision leagues such as the Mid-American Conference and the Sun Belt. The league has boasted wins over FBS teams the last five years, with victories over Ball State, San Diego State, Minnesota and Central Michigan.

Officially announced Feb. 25, 2004, charter members of the Great West Football Conference were California Polytechnic State; UC Davis; North Dakota State; Northern Colorado; South Dakota State; and Southern Utah.

Conference competition began on Sept. 4, 2004 with UC Davis scoring a 52-0 win over South Dakota State and Northern Colorado notching a 15-13 win over North Dakota State.

The Great West Conference recognizes student-athletes on both a weekly and full-season basis. Individual awards include Players of the Week; All-Conference teams; an Academic All-Conference team; and Player, Newcomer and Coach of the Year awards. The league also crowns team champions for both regular season and post-season competition.

The governance of the Great West Conference remains primarily with the member institutions. Each member institution is represented on the President's Council by its respective CEO. The general operations and management of the Conference will be conducted by the Directors of Athletics and Senior Woman Administrators (Joint Council). Scheduling of contests, assignment of officials and certain media relations functions remain with member institutions.

BLEDSOE GARNERS ALL-GREAT WEST HONORS: Senior Travis Bledsoe became the first Fighting Sioux player to earn all-conference honors in the program's Division I era after he was named to the All-Great West first team last season. Bledsoe finished second in the league in overall scoring (15.5 ppg) and league scoring (21.1 ppg) in Great West games. Bledsoe, who missed seven games early in the season, scored 20-plus points in nine of UND's 12 Great West games and eclipsed the 1,000-point plateau for his career with a 16-point effort at home against Utah Valley on Feb. 13. He led the Great West in 3-point percentage and finished fifth on the UND career charts with 182 makes from beyond the arc. Bledsoe led all Great West players with 40 connections from 3-point land in league games as well.

INAUGURAL GREAT WEST SEASON: The Fighting Sioux won five games in their inaugural run through the Great West Conference. The team registered its first league win on the road at Utah Valley and would go on to sweep the homeand-home with the Wolverines. UND also picked up a double-overtime win at Texas-Pan American and defeated NJIT and Chicago State at home to finish in a tie for third in the league standings and secure the No. 3 seed at the inaugural league tournament in Orem, Utah.

MITCHELL TIES SCHOOL RECORD: Sophomore Patrick Mitchell tied the UND single-game school record with 10 3-pointers and finished with a careerhigh 33 points to carry the Fighting Sioux to a 90-78 Great West Conference victory over NJIT on Feb. 23. The Des Moines, Iowa, native went 10-for-13 from 3-point range to equal the 16-year-old record set by Travis Tuttle (1992-97) on Nov. 19, 1994 against Holy Names. Mitchell's final trey at the buzzer also helped tie the single-game team record of 16 trifectas set by the 1995-96 squad on Feb. 9 against Augustana. Mitchell's 33-point outing was the first 30-plus scoring game since Emmanuel Little scored 33 in a 100-88 victory over Mayville State on Dec. 18, 2007.

BENTER EARNS SECOND ALL-ACADEMIC HONOR: Junior Derek Benter found his name on the Great West's All-Academic team for the second consecutive season. The criminal justice major started 21 games and averaged 6.2 ppg during the 2009-10 season.

MR. EVERYTHING: Senior forward Travis Mertens, who was the lone returning starter for UND, provided a veteran presence for the Sioux in their 31 contests. He finished second on the club in scoring (9.9 ppg, 16th in GWC), first in rebounding (6.5 rpg, fourth in GWC), first in assists (1.9 apg, 13th in GWC) and first in steals (1.0 spg, 15th in GWC) this season. Mertens reached double figures a team-high 18 times, including a careerhigh 19 points at IPFW. He has also led Senior Travis Mertens ranked either first or second in nearly every statistical category on the Fighting Sioux team during the 2009-10 season. He averaged 9.9 ppg and 6.5 rpg in his final season with UND.

the Fighting Sioux in rebounding in 23 of 31 contests and added a team-best five double-doubles. The 6-foot-5, Devils Lake native grabbed a career-high 12 rebounds on Senior Day vs. UTPA. He corralled a total of 203 boards on the season - more than doubling his next closest teammate (Patrick Mitchell, 97). He also pulled down a team-high 59 offensive rebounds.

SIOUX SET SEASON HIGHS: With their shooting performance in a 90-78 victory over NJIT on Feb. 23, the Fighting Sioux set a number of season highs in offensive categories. Those highs included points scored (90), points scored in a first half (44), points scored in a second half (46), 3-pointers made (16), free throws made (30), field goal percentage (57.9, 22-for-38) and 3-point field goal percentage (64.0, 16-for-25). Sophomore Patrick Mitchell also tossed in a season-high 33 points by a Sioux player. His 11 field goals were also the highest output by a UND player this season.

BLEDSOE BECOMES 30TH SIOUX PLAYER TO JOIN 1,000-POINT CLUB: Senior Travis Bledsoe finished his career firmly entrenched as one of the top 30 scorers in UND men's basketball history. He concluded his four-year career in Grand Forks No. 21 on the list with 1,130 points. Bledsoe joined the club with a 16-point outing in a home win over Utah Valley on Feb. 20. Bledsoe scored a career-high 28 points in an earlier meeting against the Wolverines (Jan. 14), going 9-for-11 from both the floor and the free throw line in the contest. He equaled that output with 28 points in a home win over SIUE that started a string of six consecutive 20-plus outings for the sharp-shooting senior. He finished the season with 11 20-plus point efforts.

KNOCKOUT PUNCH: Senior Travis Bledsoe and sophomore Patrick Mitchell ended the regular season as two of the top 3-point shooters in Great West play. Bledsoe captured the category title with a 48.2 percent clip (40-for-83) in league play, while Mitchell buried 31-of-68 attempts in league play (45.6 percent), which ranks him third overall. The duo helped the Sioux shoot a league-best 41.3 percent from beyond the arc and knock down a leaguehigh 107 3-pointers. Bledsoe's overall field goal percentage in 2009-10 trailed only a quartet of post players in the Great West Conference. He shot 50 percent from the field and was the only guard to shoot better than 50 percent from the field.

YOUTH IS SERVED: Six redshirt freshmen all made their collegiate debuts during the 2009-10 season, accounting for 2,214 minutes. The group combined for 40 starts and scored 495 points with guard Nick Haugen leading that effort with a 5.8 ppg a v e r a g e (179 total points). Forward Spencer Goodman was the top rebounder in the class, averaging 3.0 rpg and he also made the most starts with 24.

BLEDSOE JOINS ELITE CLUB IN FITTING FASHION: Senior Travis Bledsoe became the 30th member of the 1,000-point club in UND men's basketball history when he opened the second half of a home win over Utah Valley (Feb. 20) with a 3-pointer. It was a fitting way for Bledsoe to join the elite club since 552 of his career points came via 3-pointers. His 184 career treys rank fifth in the UND annals. He earned GWC Player of the Week honors after accomplishing the feat and tying his career-high with 28 points against SIU-Edwardsville (Feb. 18).

LEADER OF THE PACK: Redshirt freshman Nick Haugen led the Sioux in free-throw shooting with a 90.7 percent clip. With only 43 attempts (39 makes), he was shy of the qualifying number for the UND record books, but his charity stripe display was impressive. He had a stretch of 26 straight makes come to an end after his back-end free throw of a one-and-one rattled in and out at Chicago State on Feb. 25. He had made his first 19 freebies in Great West play before that miss. Haugen led all shooters in league games with a 95.8 percent clip (23-for-24).

ARCHER GOES OUT WITH AN INJURY: Just when redshirt freshman Doug Archer was coming into his own, the injury bug sidelined the six-foot-eight forward following the best game of his collegiate career. The injury occured in practice just days after Archer went for a career-high 12 points in a 82-64 loss to South Dakota. Archer shot 5-for-9 from the field and also grabbed five rebounds in 18 minutes of action against the Coyotes. In the three Great West games he was able to participate in, Archer averaged 7.7 ppg and 3.0 rpg, while shooting 66.7 percent from the floor.

SECOND HALF SURGE: Over the course of the season, the Fighting Sioux played much better basketball in the second half of contests. The team scored 165 more points after intermission than they did in the opening 20 minutes. That equates to 5.3 ppg more in the second half.

The 2009-10 senior class with Head Coach Brian Jones on 'Senior Night'.

Mitchell's record performance carries Sioux past NJIT

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (Feb. 23, 2010) - Sophomore Patrick Mitchell tied a University of North Dakota men's basketball record with 10 three-pointers and finished with a career-high 33 points to carry the Fighting Sioux to a 90-78 Great West Conference victory over NJIT in front of 1,691 fans at the Betty Engelstad Sioux Center.

The Des Moines, Iowa, native shot 10-for-13 from 3-point range to tie the 16-year-old single-game record set by Travis Tuttle (1992-97) on Nov. 19, 1994 against Holy Names. Mitchell's final trey at the buzzer also helped tie the single-game team record of 16 three-pointers set by the 1995-96 squad on Feb. 9 against Augustana.
